

ECGS-FKPE Workshop

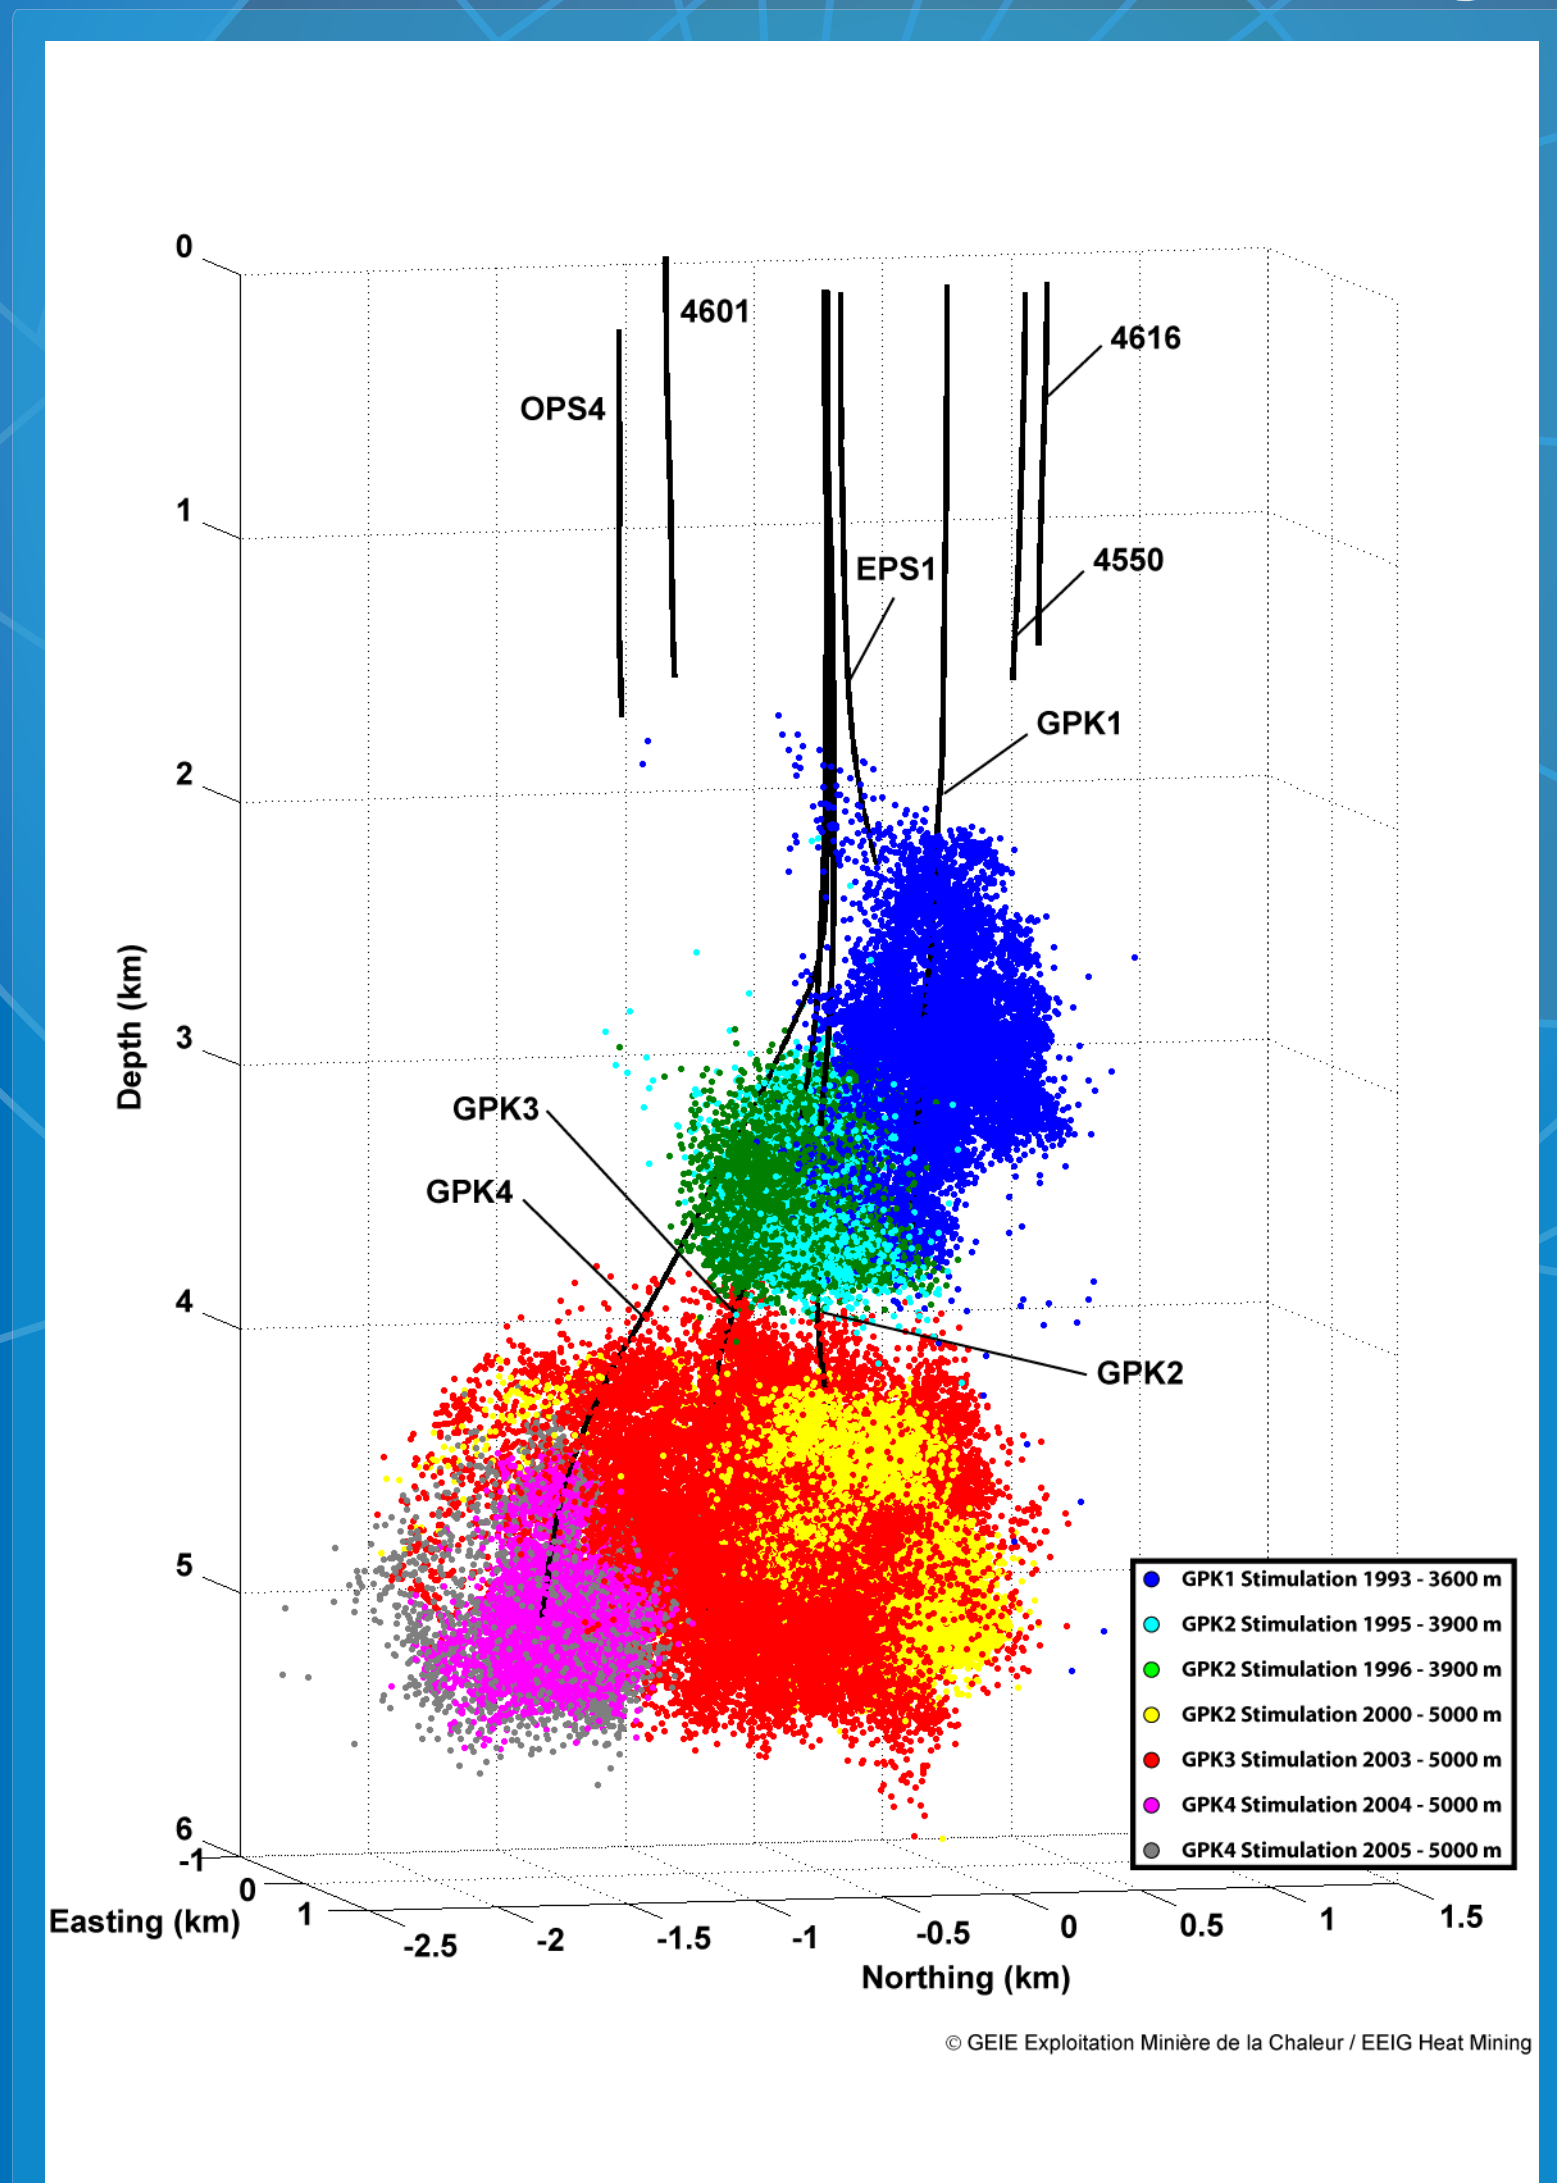

European Center for Geodynamics and Seismology in collaboration with Forschungkollegium der Physik des Erdkörpers

European center for geodynamics and seismology centre européen de géodynamique et de séismologie

FKPE
Forschungkollegium Physik des Erdkörpers e.V.

Induced Seismicity

Induced microseismic activity observed during all hydraulic stimulation experiments that were performed at the Soultz EGS site. GPK-1, -2, -3 and -4 are the geothermal wells and the other are seismic observation wells. Several thousands of microearthquakes were induced in each stimulation test and some of them reached magnitudes between 2 and 3.

Luxembourg, November 15-17, 2010

Hilton Hotel Luxembourg

Scientific Committee

N. Cuenot

EEIG Heat Mining, France

B. Dost

Koninklijk Nederlands Meteorologisch Instituut,
The Netherlands

S. Husen

ETH Zurich, Switzerland

M. Joswig

Universität Stuttgart, Germany

A. Oth

ECGS, Luxembourg

J. Ritter

Karlsruhe Institute of Technology, Germany

S. Shapiro

Freie Universität Berlin, Germany

With the Support of

Fonds National de la
Recherche Luxembourg

EUR-OPA
EUR-OPA MAJOR HAZARDS AGREEMENT
ACCORD EUR-OPA RISQUES MAJEURS

Musée National
d'Histoire Naturelle, Luxembourg

Karlsruhe Institute of Technology

FKPE

Forschungkollegium Physik des Erdkörpers e.V.